

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image forming apparatus has a positioning device which positions an image carrier out of contact with a 5 revolver unit that holds a plurality of developing rollers in a direction of rotation, thereby defining a predetermined gap between each developing roller and the image carrier at a developing position.